MAUI TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Spartan Sailors Paid Off--Social and Personal.

MAUI, September 1.—In the semi-finals of the Puunene tennis tournament Thompson beat Williams, Henderson vanquished Ault, and Nickelsen won over Lougher. The finals occurred during Monday and Tuesday afternoons of this week. On August 28 the score stood: G. B. Henderson, 6-6; J. B. Thompson, 3-4. On August 29 the record was: G. B. Henderson, 6-6; Theo. Nickelsen, 1-4.

G. B. Henderson was the winner of the tournament for which victory no prize was given, it having been decided by the athletic club to classify the players before offering any trophy.

On Monday another tournament, gentlemen singles, will begin at Puunene according to the following plan: The players are to be divided into two classes to be known as class A and class B. Class A will consist of those men who played in the second round or semi-finals of the first tournament, Messrs. Henderson, Thompson, Nickelsen, Ault, Williams and Lougher. Class B will be composed of those players who appeared only in the first round, Messrs. W. W. Westcott, W. P. L. Bett, H. I. Shoemaker, Wm. McGerrow, A. C. Betts and E. C. Campbell, and in addition several new players.

The members of class A will play against each other as will also those of class B, and then the winner of class A, suitably handicapped, will enter the contest against the winner of class B for some prize to be awarded by the athletic association.

On the 9th the Makawao Tennis Club will begin a tournament on their grounds at Sunnyside, Paia. The first games, which will be ladies' singles, are to be followed later by gentlemen's singles. This tournament is for the purpose of classifying the players.

SAILORS PAID OFF.

On Wednesday the fifteen sailors of the wrecked ship Spartan were paid off in the office of the Bismark Stables, Wailuku. Two months' wages were due, or the balance still unpaid, at the rates of $17, $12 and $10 per month.

Among the crew were a number of aliens, which fact caused the visit of Immigration Agent Bechtel last week. These men not being American citizens had also to undergo an examination by Dr. John Weddick to show that they were physically fit to have the freedom of the country. The men departed for Honolulu by the Maui Wednesday afternoon. It is stated that it is customary for the federal government to pay the expenses of shipwrecked marines to their homes from the place of disaster. However, the steamer refused to take the Spartan's crew until their passage money was guaranteed by Deputy Collector Aiken. The wrecked ship Spartan still remains in good condition upon the Speckelsville reef. The vessel and cargo were sold by Captain Flynn to Capt. Nicholson, the Kahului pilot, for $400.

Capt. and Mrs. Flynn still remain in Kahului. It has been a most unfortunate wedding trip for them both.

'NEATH THE SHADE OF THE SHELTERING PALM

What Folks Did and Saw Who Spent Sunday Out by the Waikiki's Wave Washed Shore.

For some reason it was slack at the beach yesterday. Perhaps it was too warm to make the effort to get to Waikiki. More likely, however, that the day was spent, by the masses, recuperating for today's great holiday.

Those who did go seaward had no reason to regret their journey, for the breeze blew cool beneath the palms and the surf was as seductive as ever.

Waikiki is always the same to the lover of nature and to him that hath eyes to see and ears to hear. There the sea calls incessantly, the winds ever whisper or shout glorias and the ever old, ever new, panorama of day and night, sunrise and sunset, moonlight and starlight, continually delights the eye and soothes the brain, while Pan turks close by, eluding the gaze of the unseeing and intolerant utilitarian.

Bathing was more or less indulged in at all the resorts and canoes ran their usual week-end races with the white-manned rollers.

A few people spent the afternoon 'neath the ironwoods in the park and several hundreds crossed the infield of the racecourse to see the Makikis and Diamond Heads dispose of their opponents in the Winter League baseball games.

Even the Aquarium, for a wonder, failed to attract more than a handful of visitors.

Few or no new fish were added to the collection last week owing to the windy weather having made fish hunting an impossibility. A fresh batch of finny novelties is expected to arrive this morning, however.

A tank which is at present attracting a good deal of attention is that in which the pilikoa, or perching fish, are domiciled. The pilikoa has a black and white, colored body with plum colored head and shoulders which are profusely speckled with maroon spots.

This fish is just too lazy to swim. It prefers to perch on the coral in its tank and dops down at all sorts of angles without the slightest provocation. Once settled, it adopts a cast of countenance inexpressibly glum and appears to be lost in deep meditation.

A big oil shares the pilikoa's tank, but even his green sides and orange stripes fail to stir the doleful perching fish to any appreciable degree of enthusiasm.

There was crepe on the home of the

Mrs. Flynn is but 18 years old and was married to the captain only three days before sailing from Newcastle.

NOTES.

G. O. Cooper is now connected with the Hygeia Soda Co. of Kahului. Saturday, August 26, the steamer Nebraska arrived in Kahului from Honolulu, discharged 300 tons of merchandise and departed on Monday, August 28, with 8000 bags of sugar.

The September meeting of the Makawao Literary Society will be held next Friday evening at the Speckelsville residence of Hon. and Mrs. H. P. Baldwin.

By the Wednesday steamer Misses M. McGowan and Nina Adams returned to Honolulu after short visits in Makawao.

It is not Rob. Nawabine of Waihee, but a brother of his, who is singing in the quintet club at the Lewis & Clark Exposition, Portland.

Mrs. Chas. Copp, the wife of the district magistrate of Makawao, has been quite ill during the week but is now somewhat better.

On Wednesday Judge Lyle A. Dickey returned to Honolulu after a brief visit with his parents at Haiku.

By the Mauna Loa of Thursday Mrs. F. F. Baldwin, Miss Charlotte Baldwin and Sam Baldwin departed for Honolulu. After the polo games Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Baldwin depart for the Coast, Miss Charlotte Baldwin returns to school at Farmington, Sam Baldwin goes back to Yale and Fred C. Baldwin takes a trip to New York.

On August 26 Mrs. Wren and four children arrived in Kahului from the Coast.

Polo is such an uncertain game that it is a matter of regret that G. W. Wilbur did not go to Honolulu with the Maui team to act as substitute in case of emergency.

Weather—Light showers from windward.

WAILUKU FOREIGN CHURCH.

Wailuku will in the course of a month be the proud possessor of another English church. Rev. Dr. Dodge of Warren, Mass., has been sent out by the Board of Missions and acting under the Hawaiian Board will reopen the old foreign church on High street. Dr. Warren paid Wailuku a preliminary visit last week, being the guest of Manager C. B. Wells, who will be active in the opening of the church. Evening services only will be held and the church will be conducted on the same lines as the Central Union of Honolulu, being open to persons of all creeds who desire to participate in the service.—Maui News.

ooupu hue and the ooupu okala yesterday and much mourning in the eyes of Manager Potter. Save for a solitary porcupine the family of great oopus is no more. After having apparently thrived for several months, they turned up their toes last week and were promptly converted into eel food. The late lamented will be replaced as soon as possible.

A tiny squid shares the great double tank with the porcupine fish. All day long he cruises up and down his reservation, lonesome and longing for someone to love or fight.

The blue kalaholos are worth more than passing note. They have a shorter horn than the true kala, but each side of their tail bears the dual knifelike appendages which occasionally inflict a severe wound on a careless fisherman when being released from the meshes of a net.

The squid still maintains the number of their mess—four. There have been no fights lately. A fight generally means a squid less.

The feeding of the fish is quite a problem and keeps Manager Potter's hands full.

Most of the soft-mouthed fish live on seaweed and are easily catered for.

The ooupu hue and ooupu okala, on the other hand, have a taste for shellfish, and must have them, be there an "R" in the month or not. When at large the great, iron-jawed fellows like nothing as well as the wana or small prickly sea-urchin, crushing the spines with impunity between their powerful jaws and spitting them out. This food is too hard to obtain to be furnished as a regular diet in captivity.

The squid, olua, and, indeed, nearly all fish, devour opae or shrimps with avidity and the tiny crustaceans are a staple item of the Aquarium bill-of-fare.

As for the crabs and eels, they are the scavengers of the ocean and eat anything. When a fish dies it is cut up for their benefit and when mortality is low in the tanks scraps of meat are given.

"The eel is a satisfactory tank fish," said Potter. "You can't kill an eel with a club."

The Zoo had its usual quota of visitors who had their usual good time. A recent addition to the wealth of furred and feathered wonders is some white Japanese chickens with long tails and said to be the only birds of their kind in Honolulu.
